Dr Gurevich,

I initially responded to your request in a summary paragraph last month. Here are the answers you requested in a form as close as possible to your request:

- 1. No further royalty payments will be issued for 2003 sales made by Marcel Dekker since I have no record that such royalties are unpaid. Is there a history of communication since 2004 on any missing payment that I am not aware of? If so, please forward to my attention.
- 2. No further royalty payments are owed. Explanations have been provided to you already but I am happy to regroup and resend all our communication on this topic.
- 3. I only see one statement for 2008 which lists all versions of your titles paid annually. Can you provide me more information on the two statements you have for 2008?
- 4. E-books are rented, often by customers on Amazon Kindle, for short periods of time. We receive only a portion of the normal purchase price for the time period rented. We include the revenue we receive and the related royalty payment amounts on the royalty statements and pay the royalties but we don't show any units since they are not outright full unit purchases but only uses of the book for a limited period of time.

Hopefully the brief additional statements have provided some clearer information. What additional information would be helpful at this stage? Thanks

April 18, 2020
Attention to Mr. Emmett Dages
Chief Operating Officer of Taylor & Francis Group
Emmett.Dages@taylorandfrancis.com

Helo, Mr. Dages,

I am trying for half a year already to get answers to questions about royalty for 6 my books published by Taylor & Francis Group that I have not received. Unfortunately, I have not received clear answers to my questions.

On April 3, I formulated 4 very specific separate questions and asked to answer each of them separately.

On April 16, I had to remind that I did not receive an answer to my 4 questions.

After that I received answers to 2 of 4 questions from Royalty Department manager Mrs. Harrington, and these 2 answers from 4 were in no way connected with my questions. I refuse to play these bureaucratic games with Mrs. Harrington. and ask you not to send me more completely useless and empty answers from Mrs. Harrington.

Now I ask you as Chief Operating Officer of Taylor & Francis Group to give very short and intelligible answers to my four questions:

1. Do you intend to pay me a royalty for 231 copies of the sold books "Protection Devices and Systems for High Voltage Applications" published at 2003 year by Marcel Dekker for which I did not receive a royalty from Marcel Dekker and I did not receive a royalty from Taylor & Francis Group – assignee of Marcell Dekker?

Please answer "Yes" or "No" only.

1. Do you intend to pay me a royalty for 29 copies of sold books - the difference between the two statement reports sent to me by the two official representatives of the Royalty Department of Taylor & Francis Group?

Please answer "Yes" or "No" only.

1. Do you intend to explain the existence of two statement reports for 2008 on book "Protection Devices and Systems for High Voltage Applications", containing completely different data for same period and for same book version?

Please answer "Yes" or "No" only.

1. Do you intend to explain how exactly 131 copies of my books worth about 26 thousand dollars, labeled as "Unit Rentals", were used, for which I did not receive any royalties?

Please answer "Yes" or "No" only.

Thanks.

Regards,

Dr. Vladimir Gurevich vladimir.gurevich@gmail.com
